

WOLF THEISS

LESS THEORY,

MORE PRACTICE

Summer Internship Programme

What's in a name?

'Less theory, more practice' is a programme that gives you the opportunity to put all of your learning into practice, and experience what it's really like to work in one of the biggest and best law firms in Central and Eastern and South-Eastern Europe – and quite possibly end up working here.

This isn't about spending four weeks in an office, working on case studies and shuffling papers around. It's about becoming an active member of the team, working on high-profile international cases and even accompanying us to client meetings and negotiations.

So what does it involve?

You'll join us for four weeks at our firm – which has over 500 people, more than half of whom are lawyers. We'll talk to you to work out which practice area suits you best.

From day one, you'll be involved in real-life cases, effectively acting as a first-grade associate lawyer. You'll also benefit from the advice and support of our international team, which includes experts from eleven countries. (We're a cosmopolitan bunch, but bear in mind our working language is mainly English.)

The rest is up to you. We're looking for people who will take advantage of the opportunity and get involved. If you're prepared to take the initiative, you can pack a lot into those four weeks.

ON OF THE TEAM

WHO SHOULD APPLY

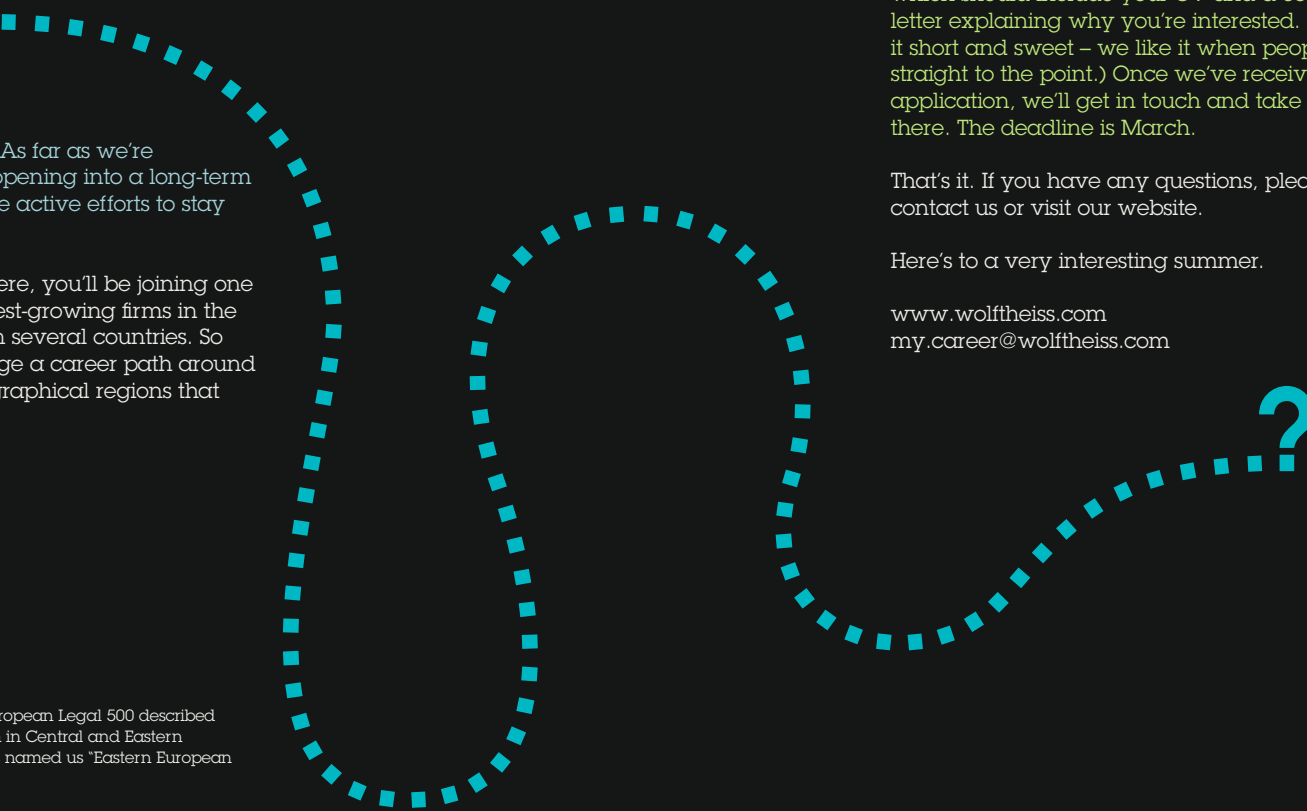

What support is on offer?

Plenty. There's a wide-ranging orientation programme to help you find your feet. Then you'll be assigned a personal mentor (one of our senior associates) who will be on hand to give advice and share a few tricks of the trade.

One of the best things about the programme is the chance it gives you to meet lots of our people. You'll be able to get plenty of informal advice from lawyers in different practice areas and geographical regions, all of which can be very useful when it comes to planning your own career.

You'll almost certainly be a senior student, graduate or currently working on your dissertation. Aside from that (as you may have spotted) we're after people who are prepared to take the initiative and make the most of the opportunity. We see this as potentially the first step towards joining us long-term for an exciting international career. Hopefully, you'll think the same way.

WHERE WILL IT LEAD.

Ultimately, that's up to you. As far as we're concerned, this could be a opening into a long-term career with us. So we'll make active efforts to stay in touch afterwards.

If you do start your career here, you'll be joining one of the biggest, best and fastest-growing firms in the region*, with opportunities in several countries. So there's plenty of scope to forge a career path around the practice areas and geographical regions that most interest you.

*Don't just take our word for it. The European Legal 500 described us as "arguably the best Austrian firm in Central and Eastern Europe". And Chambers and Partners named us "Eastern European Law Firm of the Year" in 2006.

What are the next steps?

Right now, we're inviting written applications, which should include your CV and a covering letter explaining why you're interested. (Keep it short and sweet – we like it when people get straight to the point.) Once we've received your application, we'll get in touch and take it from there. The deadline is March.

That's it. If you have any questions, please contact us or visit our website.

Here's to a very interesting summer.
