WOLF THEISS UPDATE ON CORONA VIRUS: ALL EMPLOYEES OF THE SECOND TEST GROUP TESTED NEGATIVE

Vienna, 4 March 2020 – Vienna, 4.3.2020 - Wolf Theiss now has the overall results of the Corona Virus testing of its Vienna employees: of a total of almost 300 employees tested, 293 were negative (no infection) and 3 were positive (infection was found). All of the approximately 80 employees tested in the second test group this Monday, the results of which have just become known, are negative. The 3 employees who tested positive in the first test group are still in domestic quarantine. This ensures maximum security for employees, clients and the courts.

Of the 3 employees who tested positive, only one person had had contact with clients in the past four weeks. These clients have already been informed by Wolf Theiss. Clients who were not informed by Wolf Theiss had no contact with employees who were positive. One person had contact with a court, which was also informed.

Wolf Theiss has been in intensive contact with the competent health authorities since the information about the law firm Partner suffering from the corona virus became available. A series of immediate measures, including a test of the firm's own initiative of all Vienna employees, were implemented in order to promptly respond and ensure that contacts with clients, courts, authorities and business partners only take place through employees who have tested negatively.
