WARSAW ENERGY TEAM RECORDS ANOTHER TRANSACTIONAL SUCCESS ADVISING PACIFICO ENERGY PARTNERS PURCHASING PV PORTFOLIO

Warsaw, 15 June 2021 – Wolf Theiss' energy practice headed by Konrad Kosicki has advised Pacifico Energy Partners in the purchase of a PV portfolio with a projected capacity of up to 280 MW. This is another significant PV transaction successfully overseen by Konrad Kosicki and marks the energy firm-wide practice's position on the market.

The Warsaw team, supervised by Counsel Konrad Kosicki and comprising Associates Sylwia Zwolan and Anna Nowodworska, advised Pacifico Energy Partners through all stages of the transaction. The team conducted full due diligence of the PV portfolio, preparing the share purchase and adjoining agreements, as well as project-related and regulatory work. Wolf Theiss assisted the client in the conclusion of multiple agreements for the acquisition and development of projects located in two regions of Poland (Podlaskie and Zachodniopomorskie).

With this transaction Pacifico Energy Partners expanded its pipeline in Poland, on the rapidly growing PV market. Pacifico Energy Partners focuses on project development and asset management. It develops greenfield projects, repowers existing plants, provides state-of-the-art asset management and development services, and facilitates the acquisition of operational and turn-key plants. For project development Pacifico Energy Partners often cooperates with local development partners. The portfolio of assets is located in Germany, Italy, Poland, the Czech Republic and the Netherlands, and for project development the company is active in several more countries, including Poland, Italy, the Netherlands and Spain. With this transaction Pacifico Energy Partners has made yet another step in expanding its position in the European PV market.

The Energy and Natural Resources team at Warsaw office advises clients in the acquisition, development and financing of conventional and renewable energy projects, covering all regulatory issues and trading aspects of electricity, natural gas and other commodities. The practice started at the end of 2019 (when Konrad Kosicki joined) and is a part of a leading team in the CEE region ranked Band 3 by Chambers and Partners. Kosicki, ranked individually by Chambers Europe too, is a key expert for energy matters in CEE market next to Vienna-based Andreas Schmid, head of the firm-wide Projects team, and Bucharest-based Bryan Jardine, a coordinator for the regional renewable energy practice.
