

Wolf Theiss advises Vestas on acquisition of Polish blade manufacturing facility from LM Wind Power

Warsaw, 16 May 2025 – Wolf Theiss has advised Vestas on the acquisition of LM Wind Power Blades (Poland) sp. z o.o., a Polish blade manufacturing facility, marking a strategic expansion of Vestas' European production footprint.

The Polish entity is part of LM Wind Power, a GE Vernova business. With the acquisition, Vestas will strengthen its ability to serve growing European demand for wind energy by adding local production capacity.

"Europe needs secure, affordable and sustainable energy more than ever and we're pleased to expand our European manufacturing footprint to support wind energy's growing role in Europe's energy system. I want to thank LM Wind Power for their support and collaboration through the years. We're very pleased that our respective strategic priorities have made it possible for the factory to continue operating and be part of Vestas' continued growth in Europe." –

Anders Nielsen, Chief Technology and Operations Officer, Vestas
